

IT Project Manager

About iPharro Media:

iPharro Media is a worldwide leader in the development of content identification solutions. iPharro products enable customers to identify and compare video content from any source – TV, Internet, or even video repositories / archives. The market for content identification among the major media and entertainment companies has exploded in recent times putting iPharro in the center of the massive shift from traditional media to digitally-based production and platforms.

Position Summary:

We are seeking a talented Project Manager to join our team. The Project Manager will play an instrumental role in supporting iPharro in a period of rapid growth as we expand to meet rapidly increasing market demand. The individual should be highly motivated and enthusiastic with a strong desire to learn while working in a multi-cultural environment. This is an excellent opportunity for someone who wishes to grow and expand within a dynamic environment and get hands on experience with major customers at the same time.

Main Responsibilities:

- Manage technical projects from initiation through implementation, including: analysis, planning, delivery, and maintenance
- Establish roles and responsibilities within the development team across simultaneous projects and initiatives, including research, development, support, and infrastructure maintenance / enhancement activities
- Allocate tasks to project team and monitor quality and timeliness of required deliverables
- Track key project milestones and adjust plans and/or resources to meet project requirements / priorities
- Serve as interface to customer project-team to ensure that internal efforts are consistent with customer requirements / expectations
- Ensure that internal hardware infrastructure is optimized to meet internal (i.e. development) as well as external (i.e. SaaS-based) requirements
- Work closely with upper management to provide overall direction for establishing project requirements, priorities, and deadlines

- Aid upper management in aligning market, technology, and overall company direction by identifying technological and resource capacities to be integrated at the product level
- Design and maintain technical and project documentation.

Qualifications:

- Minimum 5 years of IT project management
- Proven ability to deliver projects on time and within budget
- Experience with Agile as a project manager
- Desire to work in a fast-paced and high-stress environment
- Excellence as a leader in a multicultural environment
- Thrives in a relatively flat environment where teamwork is a must
- Media / Startup experience is a plus

Candidates should have critical thinking and problem solving skills, high energy, great interpersonal and communication skills, and be able to work collaboratively with a team in an entrepreneurial environment. It is important candidates be self-motivated.

If you readily take initiative, quickly integrate new ideas, and skillfully execute under pressure, we would welcome the opportunity to discuss further with you.

The position offers a competitive salary.
